

Alfred of Wessex and the Making of England

---

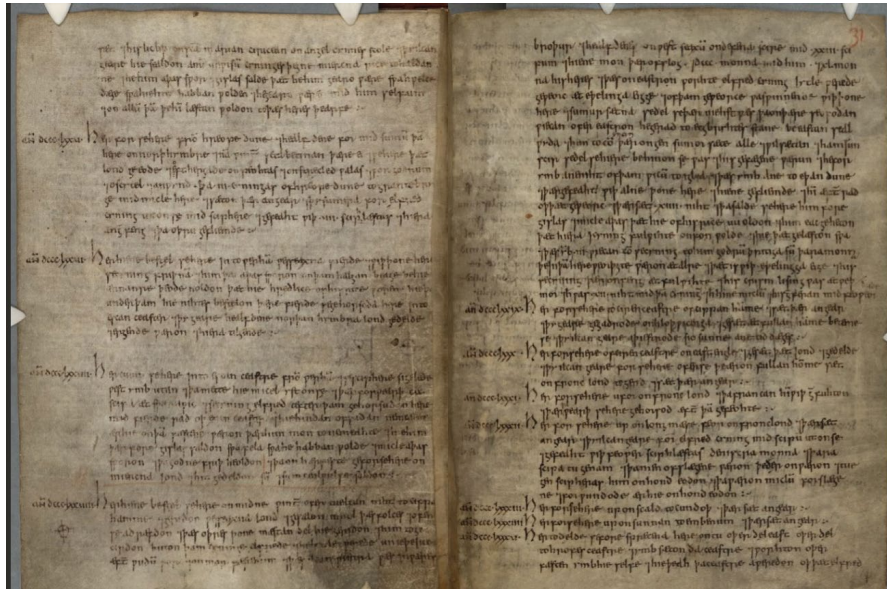

Dr Toby Purser, FRHistS

University of Northampton

The fury of the northmen

---

Last man standing: the darkest hour

---

Winning the peace

---

The pen is mightier than the sword.

---

Engla-lond?

---

References

---

- Picture credits:

- Domesday Viking stone, <https://www.english-heritage.org.uk/visit/places/lindisfarne-priory/History/significance/>
- A text, Anglo-Saxon Chronicle, The Parker Chronicle, <https://parker.stanford.edu/parker/catalog/wp146tq7625>
- Wareham map, Historic England
- Alfred jewel, Ashmolean Museum, Oxford
- Burghal Hidage forts and Dane law boundary, R H C Davies, From Alfred the Great to King Stephen, Hambledon press, 1991, p52.
- King Aethelstan, frontispiece of Bede's Life of St Cuthbert, c930, Parker Library, CCC. Cambridge.

- Written sources:

- The Anglo-Saxon Chronicles, ed. & trans. Swanton, M., Phoenix, 2000.
- Alfred the Great: Asser's Life of King Alfred, ed Keyes S., & Lapidge, M., Penguin, 2004.
- The Making of England: from Rome to Reformation, Toby Purser, Amberley, 2022.