

Venue:

Institute of English Studies
Jagiellonian University of Kraków
Al. Mickiewicza 9A, 31-120 Kraków

Conference Room 3 (ground floor)

Organizers: Maria Jodłowiec (maria.jodlowiec@uj.edu.pl); phone: +48 604 471 041

Programme:

9:15- 9:25 Registration

9:25 RRT Opening

9:30-10:30

Plenary I: Deirdre Wilson

Explaining metonymy

10:30-10:50 coffee break

10:50-11:20

Francisco Yus

Should relevance theory analyse what is non-propositional, non-intentional but yet affects the eventual relevance?

11:20-11:50

Manuel Padilla Cruz

Some challenges for future research in relevance-theoretic pragmatics: Procedural meaning and beyond

11:50-12:20

Christoph Unger

Degrees of procedure activation and the German modal particles ja and doch

12:20-12:50

Dobromila Jagiella

A relevance-theoretic account of the constraints on syntactic parenthetical constructions. Evidence from English and Polish

12:50-13:30 Lunch

13:30-14:30

Plenary II: Ingrid Falkum

Acquiring metonymy

14:30-15:00

Howard White

Relative processing effort: Some natural experiments from information science

15:00-15:30

Maria Angeles Ruiz-Moneva

Pretence and echoic irony in Swift's The Drapier's letters

15:30-16:15 Tea + poster session

16:15-17:15

Agnieszka Solska

Of puns and guns: On how puns used in power games achieve relevance

17:15- 17:45

Maged Zakher

Relevance theory and making a case for the use of sacred texts in cultural research

17:45-18:00 Tea

18:00-19:30 Round Table Discussion: Relevance Theory and concepts: old and new conceptions, their premises and consequences

19:30 Dinner at the Kuranty Pub and Restaurant (to be individually paid for by each participant): <http://www.pubkuranty.pl/index.php/en/menu>