Business Summit: A changing

This is a turbulent time for early years leaders and practitioners, with a new Prime Minister in place, the implications of Brexit to digest, a workforce strategy to implement, changes to inspections and the complexities of providing more 'free' hours ahead.

This essential one-day conference brings together an expert line-up of speakers from Government, business and academia to address and anticipate the pressing challenges and opportunities across the early years sector.

The conference includes:

- Outlook for the economic and labour market post-Brexit, and implications for the early years and childcare sector
- Potential of the workforce strategy to raise quality and meet demand
- Lessons from councils taking part in the 30-hour free places pilots
- Update on the Common Inspection Framework and Ofsted's priorities for early years inspections
- Nurturing senior talent and developing great leaders
- How great TV programmes can feed children's curiosity, thought patterns and capacity to learn
- Exclusive preview of this year's Nursery Chains league tables
- + Workshops on British values and the Prevent duty; SEND and inclusive practice; buying and selling nurseries; early years nutrition; and branding

The conference is designed for:

- Nursery group directors
- Nursery owners and proprietors
- Nursery and children's centre managers
- Headteachers and EYFS co-ordinators
- Local authority early years heads
- Early years advisers
